Airport

The new Salt Lake City International Airport (SLC) opened the doors to the first phase of the $4.5 billion project in September 2020, which included a new terminal, new parking garage, and the west end of two new concourses complete with a varied menu of new restaurants and retail shops. Now, phase 2 is underway, encompassing the build out of Concourse A-east along with a tunnel connecting A and B concourses, while Phase 3 will include additional gates in Concourse B-east. The second phase is slated to be completed in 2024, and when finished, the airport will be a state-of-the-art facility with one large, central terminal and two linear concourses connected by a passenger tunnel, with more space and conveniences to give passengers a world-class airport experience. The terminal and concourses are designed to meet high environmental standards and aims to meet LEED Gold rating from the U.S. Green Building Council.
